COMPETITION

. . . without competition our own achievements would seem meagre. Perhaps the greatest part of the aspiration is furnished by friendly competition in sports. The excitement of the game and the thrill of winning make competition more exciting and make every individual aspire to win.

TRACK

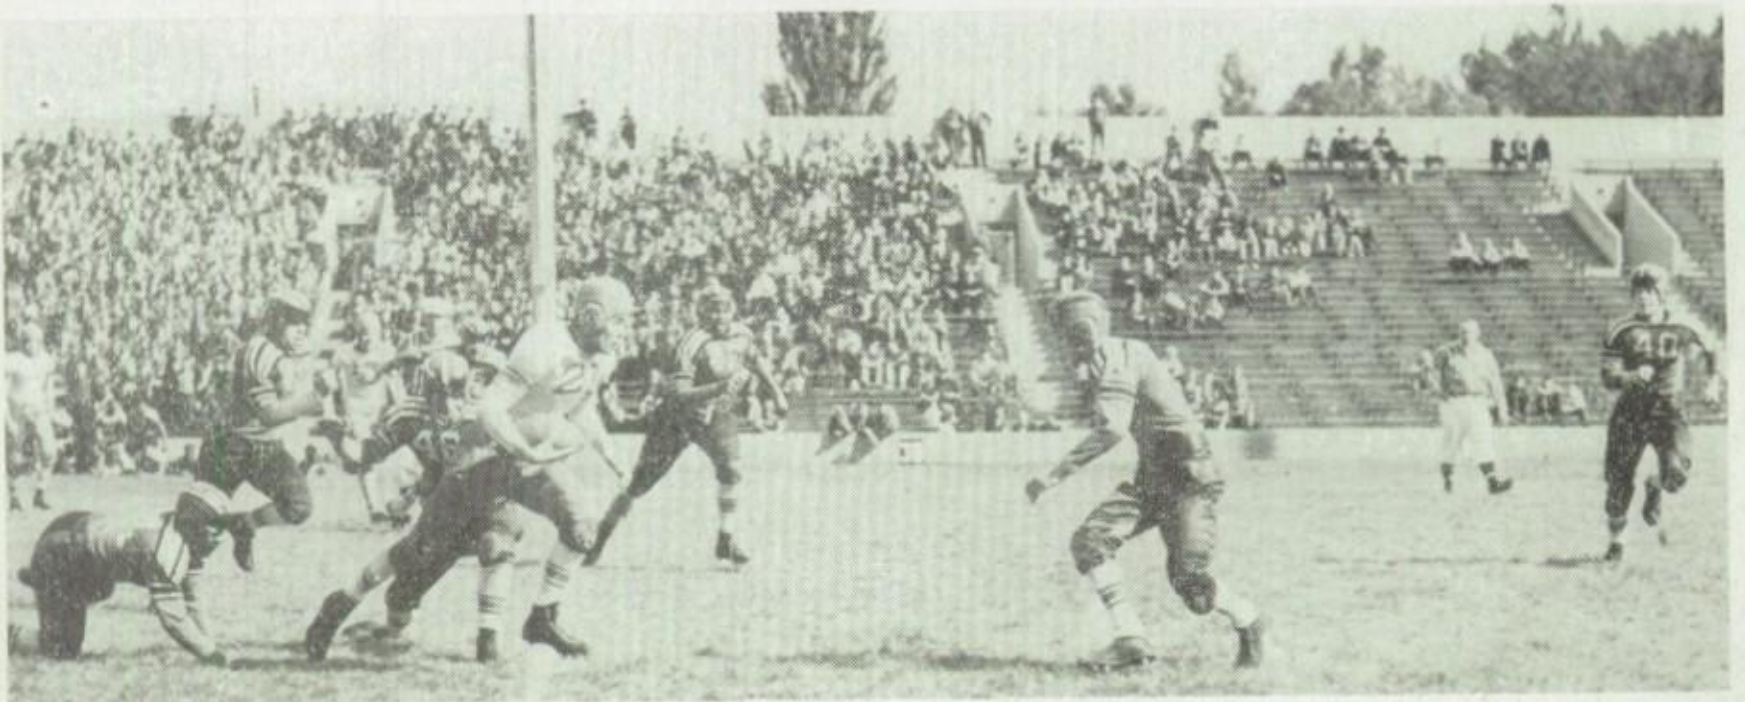

At deadline time, the speedy Angel tracksters, under the tutelage of Coach MacIntosh, have annexed two triangular meets in local prep competition, and missed by two points winning the University of Colorado Relays. With strong contenders in all field events, East hopes for city track laurels are bright.

“WHAT A LIFE”

R.S.V.P.

. . . wishful Friday, wild Saturday, wistful Sunday, and weary Monday — week-ends filled with parties and social events. Weary minds are far from books and studies in the presence of dimmed lights and soft music, and thoughts are concentrated on sociability and congeniality.

TEA TIME

HOSPITALITY extended to incoming 10B's by their Seraph Sisters.

HEARTY FARE to satisfy the appetites on Father and Son Night.

FELICITATIONS extended to departing Dorothy Shroeder by Headman Hill.

TEA TIME

SERVICE at the faculty tea rendered by Jean MacCauley and Kathryn Peabody.

CONVERSATION, the meat of social gatherings, is partaken of by Mr. Spitler and friend.

THE MORGUE LUNCHEON, yearly gathering of the Spotlight staff, both past and present.

DANCE TIME

SOPHISTICATION, keynote of the Penthouse Prom.

EXHILARATED by football victories, Angels fly high at the Pigskin Prom.

FREE AND EASY, the informality of the Homecoming Dance.

AFTER THE BALL IS OVER.

DANCE TIME

COSMOPOLITAN. East's Seraphs swing.

HAPPY HAYSEEDS at the Senior Barn Dance.

RAPT ATTENTION greets Mr. Greenslit's song at the Washington and Lee Prom.

INTROSPECTION

CANDID

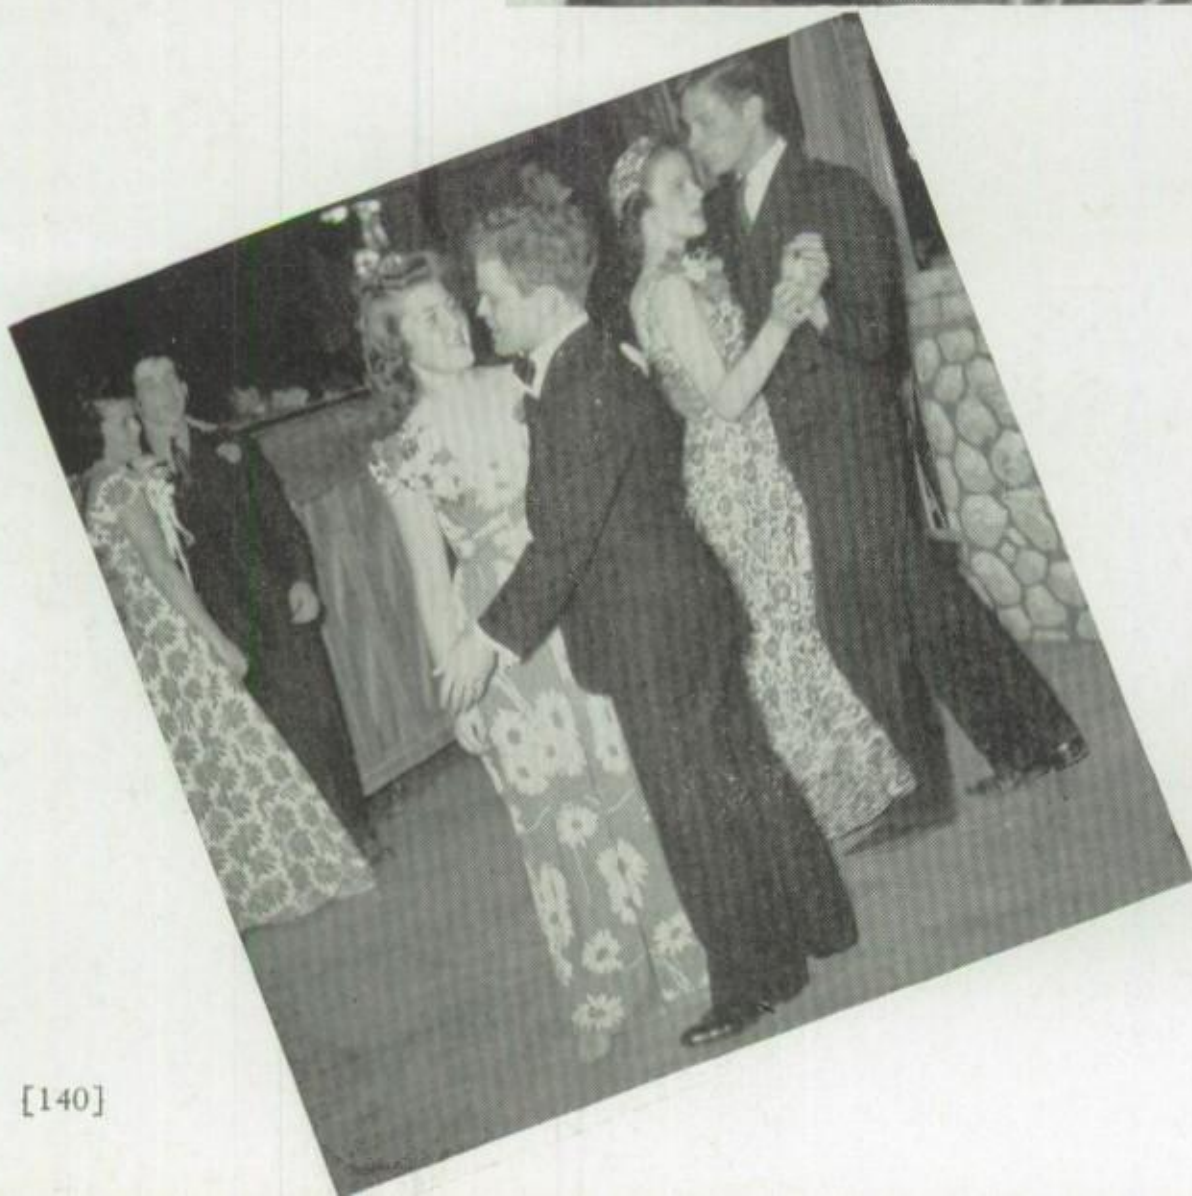

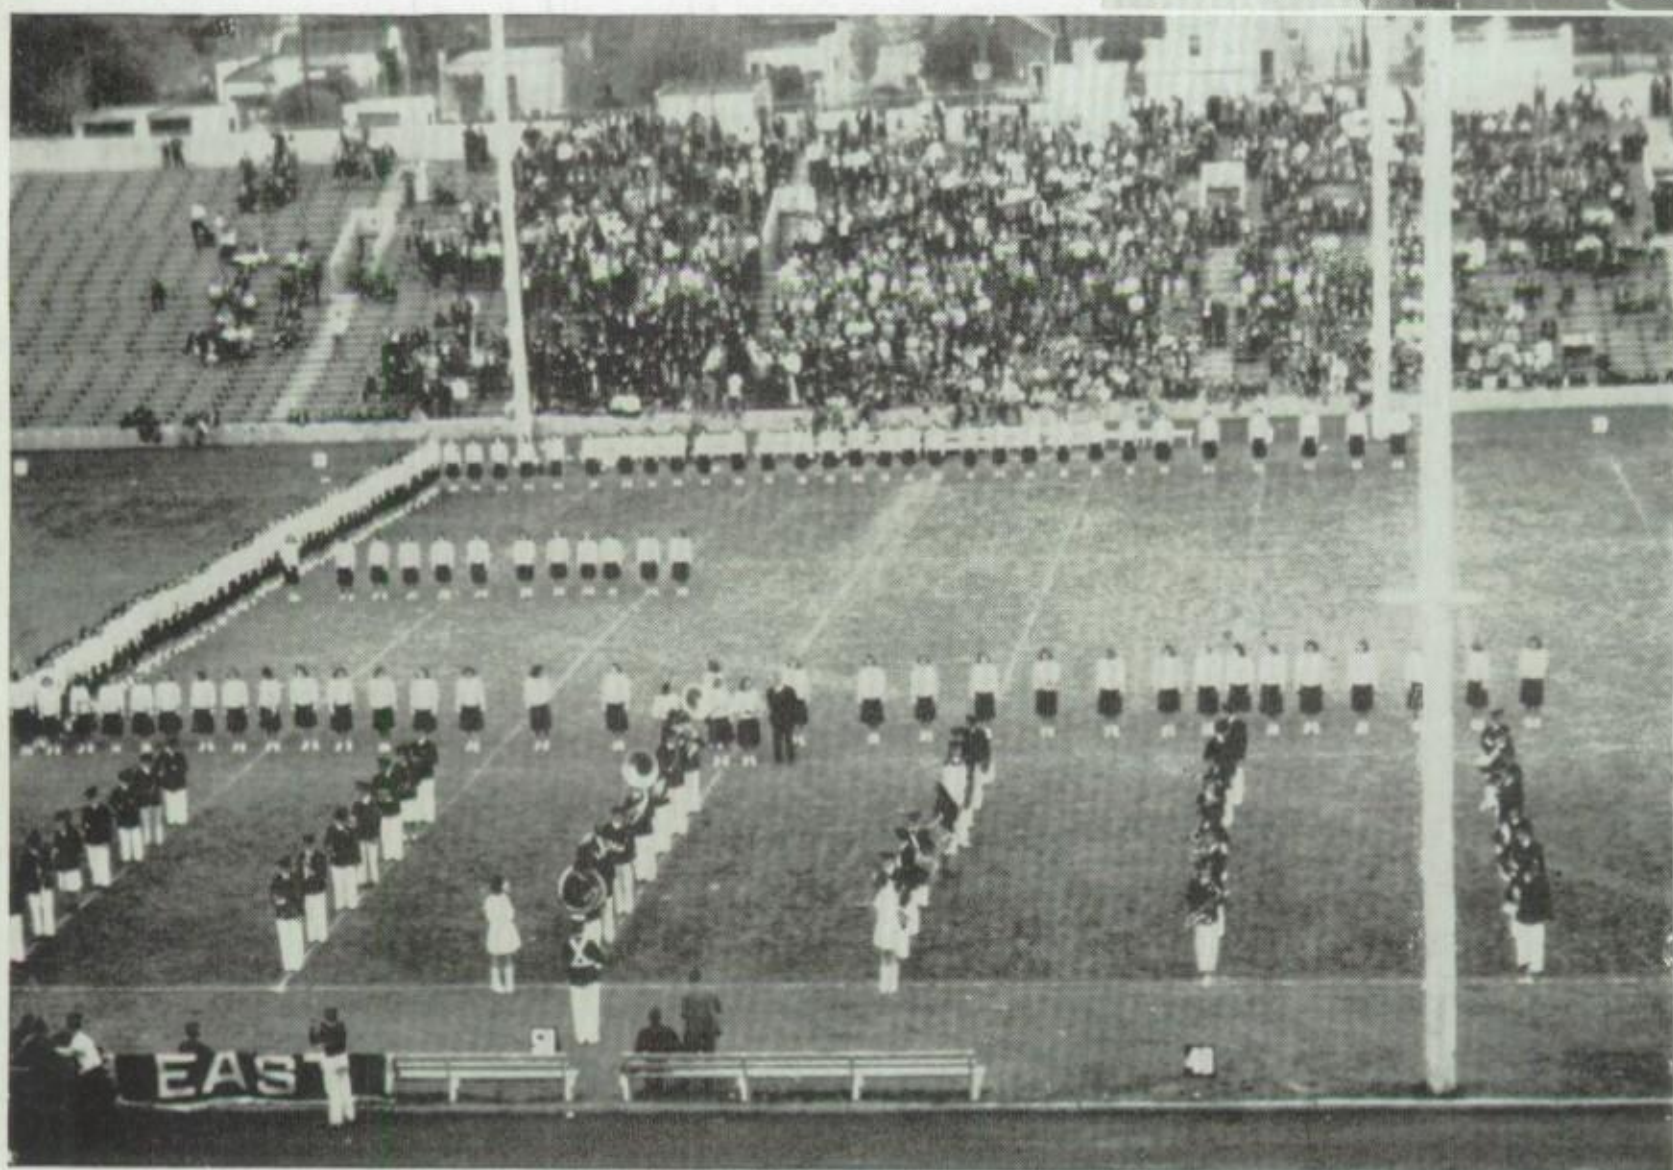

. . . where they were, where they went, and who was there—those happy moments are reflected through the lens of the candid camera to make us smile as we look back, an introspection of youth made and remembered by the camera.

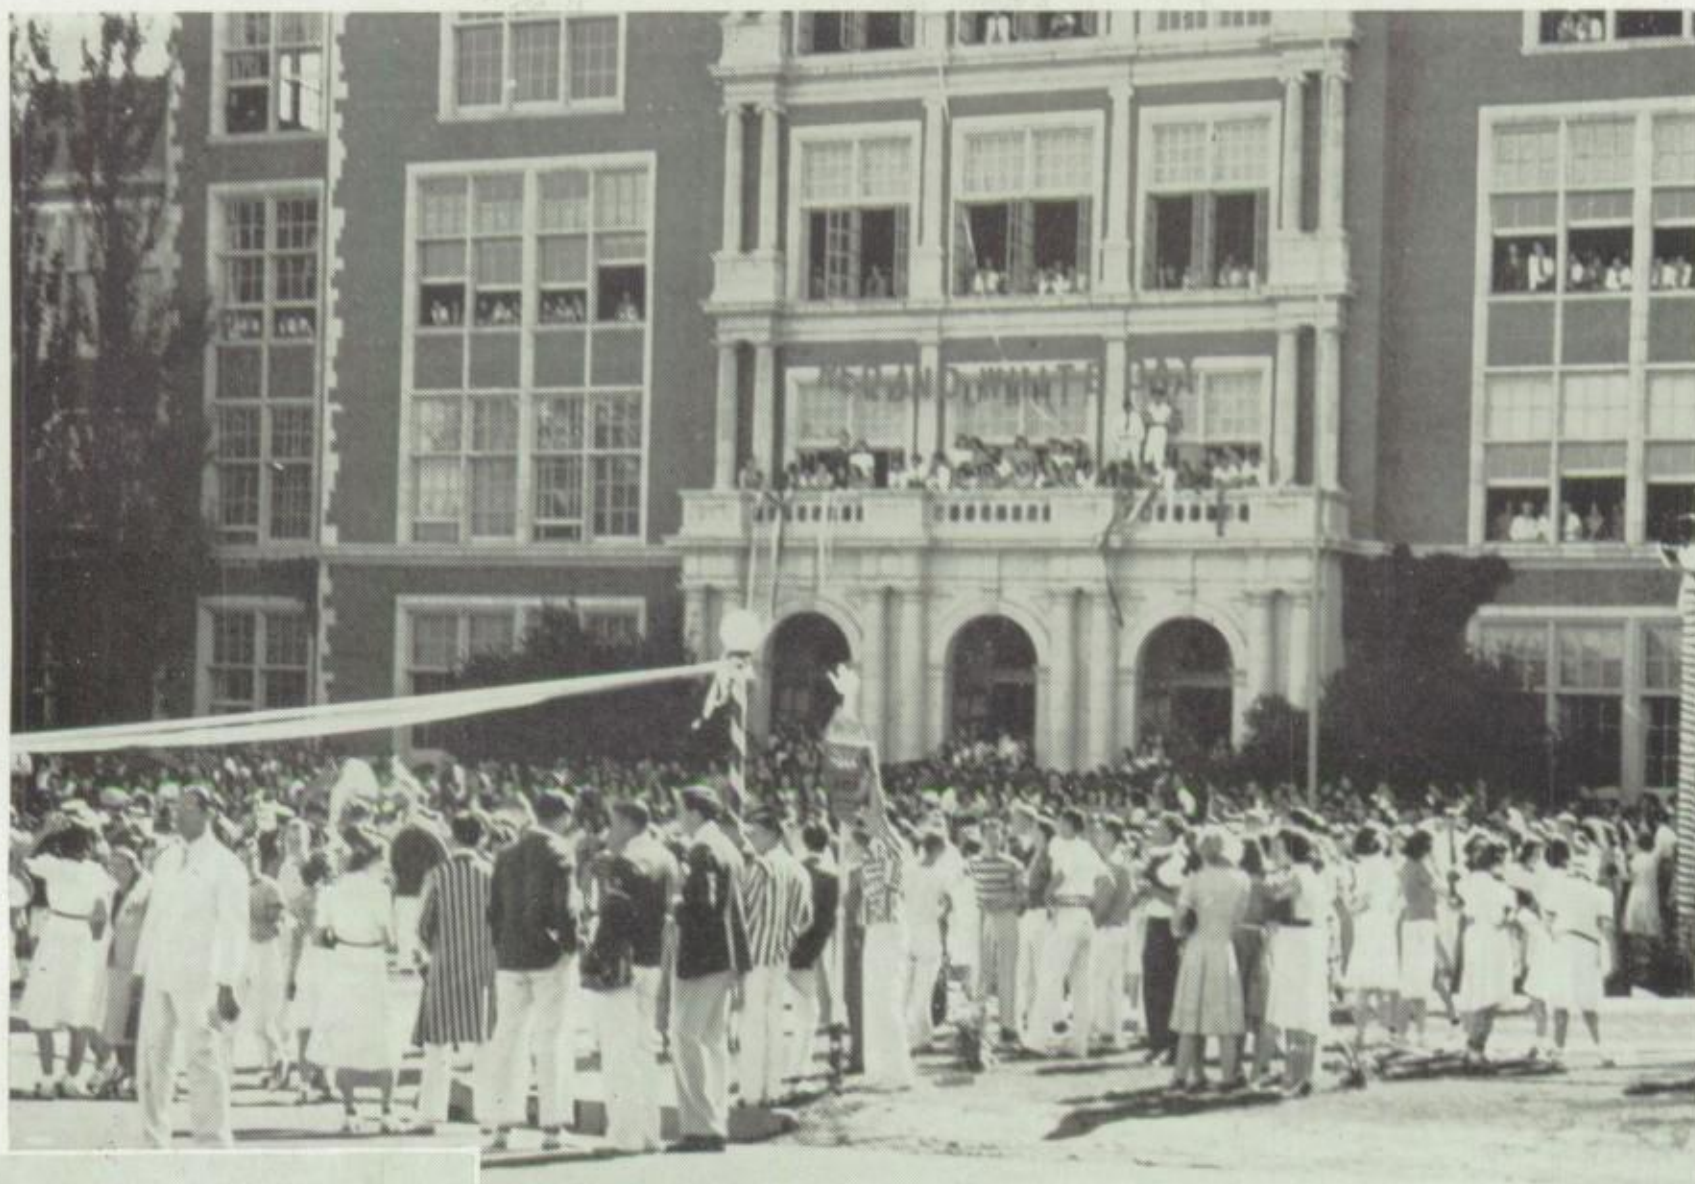

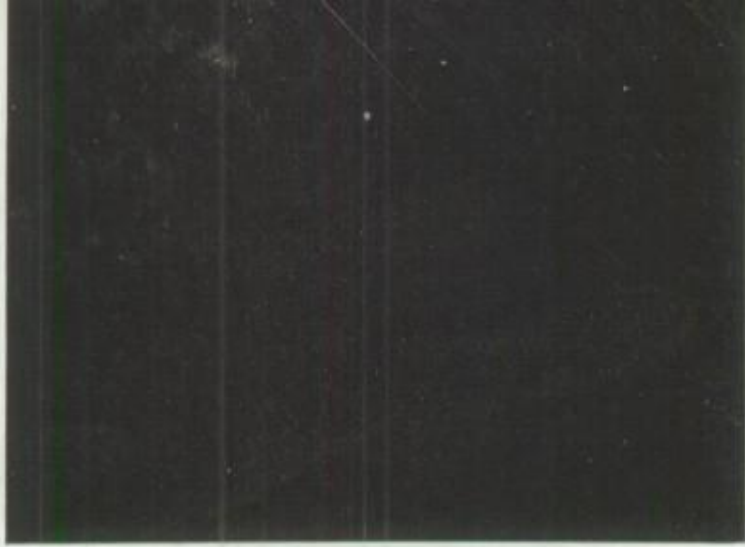

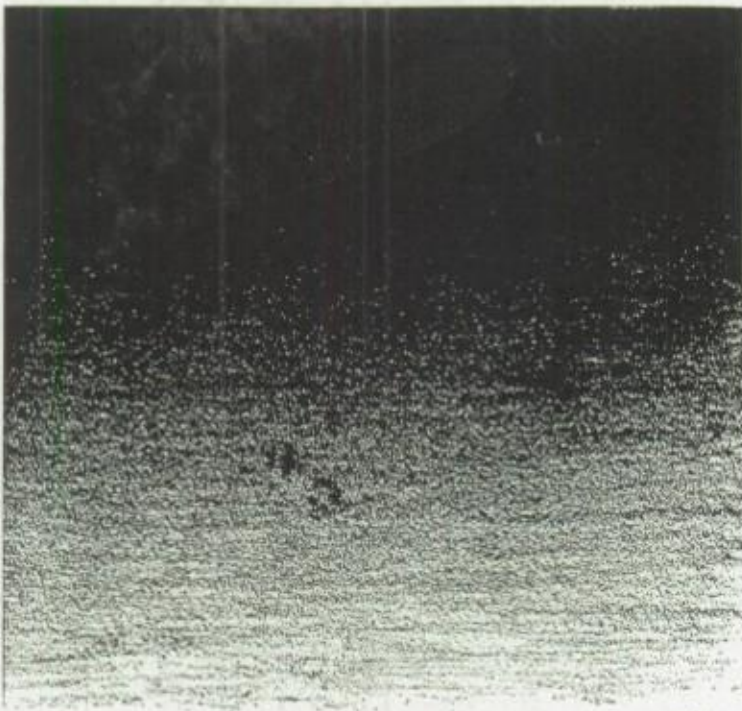

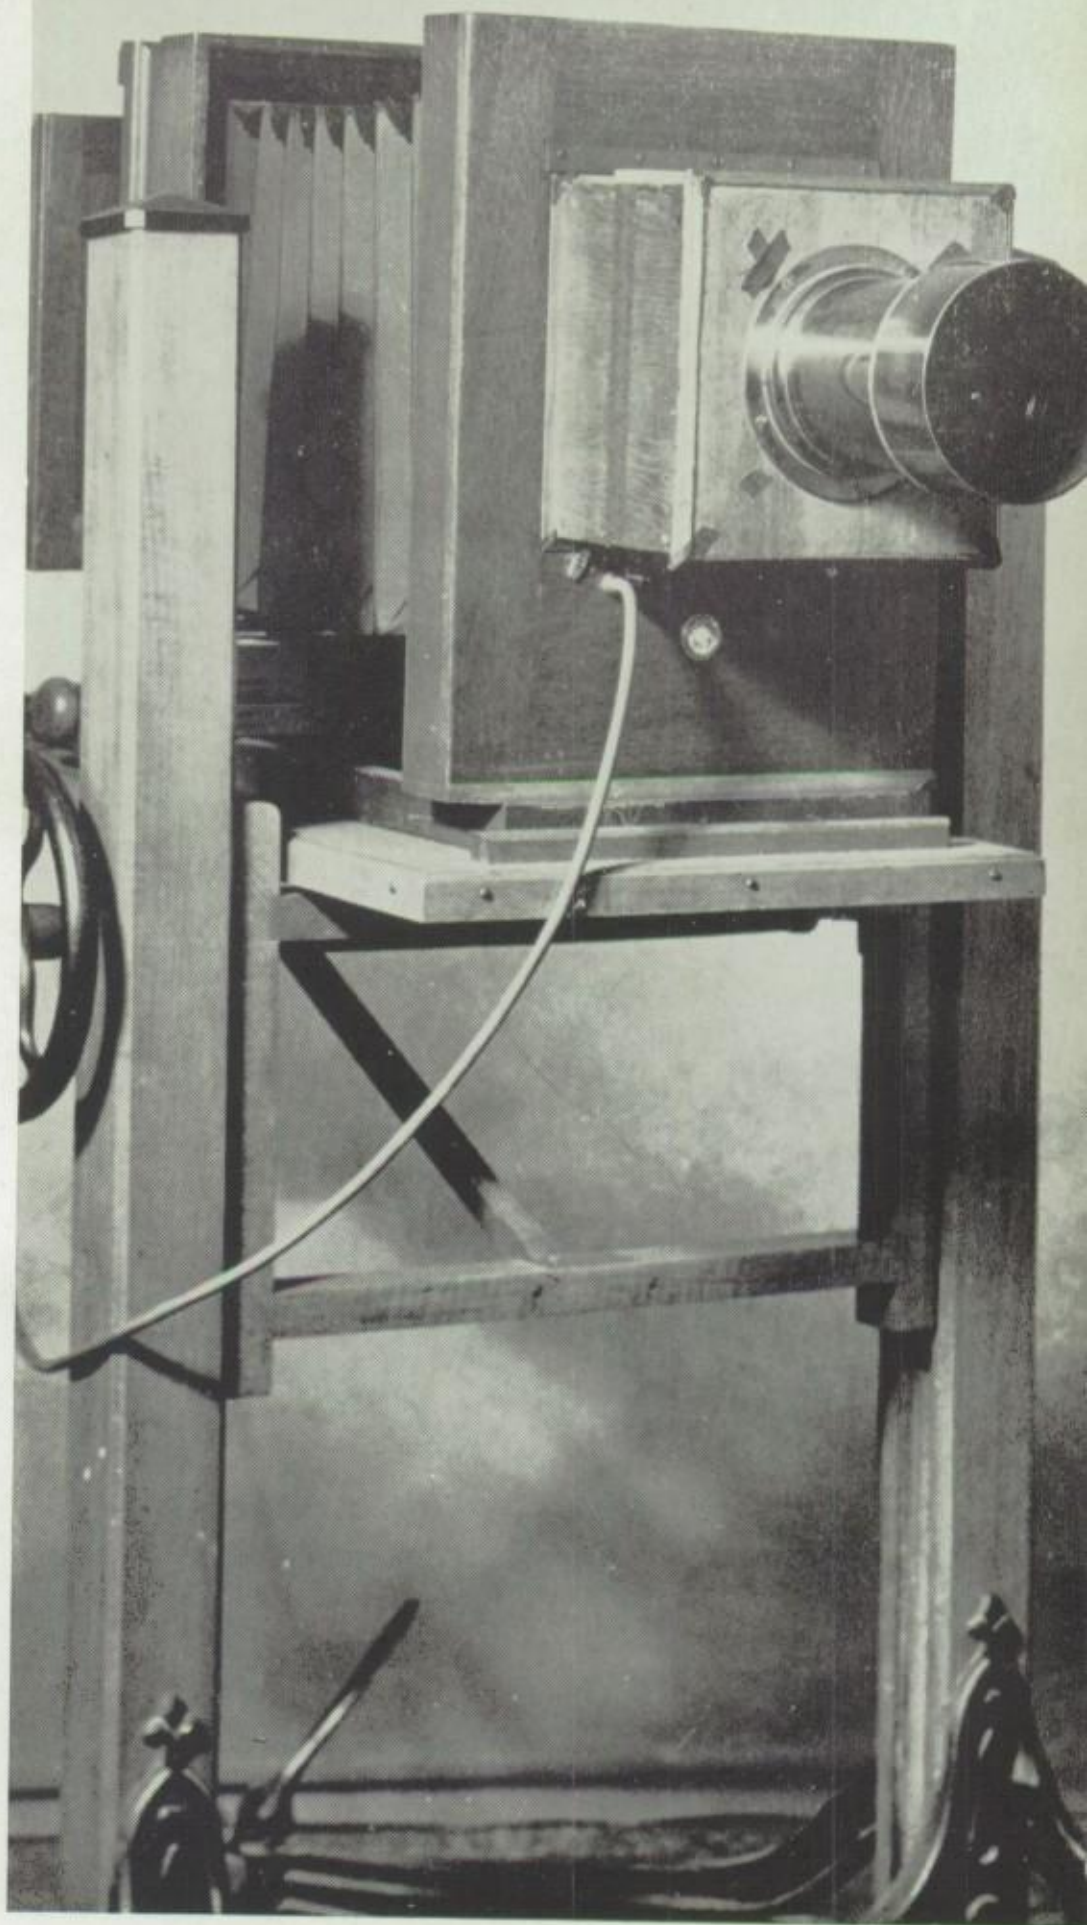

US

. . . a retrospection of us is retained by the camera, revealing individuals, links in the great chain which supports East. The camera magnifies each link, showing its characteristics for us to remember.
